

Finishing the Refurbishment Work

Taken on 21st June 2014, these photographs show what is being done to the building.

Upstairs a new doorway has been made between the two main living rooms, the original route being closed off and turned into a cupboard.

Very old wide uneven floorboards are exposed in this room. In the other rooms a hardboard overlay can be seen

The second stairway has been removed, the hole in the floor filled in and the outer wall insulated and replastered. The main electricity supply panel remains in its original location exposed on the wall.

In the third main room the fireplace and adjacent cupboard has been removed

In the gents the sanitary ware has been removed and tiling has commenced. The old oil boiler has gone making the space larger. Once the tiling is finished sanitary ware will be fitted. A new boiler has been located in a room between the ladies and gents.

Here the old bar was located there is now a open space, the floor has been levelled and pavement tiles laid and a new doorway opens into the garden.

The middle rooms have been made into one. The floor levelled, ceiling height levelled, outer wall insulated and the second fireplace opened up. In the first fireplace a log fire will be installed directly fed air from The Green.

The colour schemes for all the rooms have yet to be applied. In the dining hall and cafe area a wooden floor will be laid. In part of the dining hall flase exposed beams will be fitted to match the other half of the room.

In the cafe area the external door and window has been reversed to make the doorway wheelchair compliant. The new small window has a leaded glass inset to be added once works are completed.

The rear of the building is now much cleaner, the first floor dormer has been removed, the old garden access partly bricked up. The garden area has been cleaned up but in the car park piles of rubbish remain to be cleared.

Much detailed finishing off and cleaning has yet to be done.
